-2% fn-med gr. euhedral and annealed pyrite throughout.
 -cherty hematite shears 112.12-112.40 and 114.59-114.70m at 40° to CA and 90° to CA respectively, shears have chlorite filled voids (bands) with 2% euhedral py. (diss) and are brick red to rose in colour.
 114.17-115.91m - as above, however red green to grey green, less hematitic less brecciated, more silicified, less chloritic void fillings
 -cherty white bands faulted by later qtz - CaCO<sub>3</sub> veins, with cherty veins at 150° to CA and qtz veins at 20° to CA.
 -Irregular contacts; but sharp, with some brecciation on the contact, brecciation throughout is moderate, seen as brittle expansional fracturing
 -foliation weak to moderate at 50° to CA at 111m, 50° to CA at 116m
 -tr-1% py
 118.03-120.74 metres
 chloritized carbonated mafic volcanic (Tuff?)
 -dk. green, fn. gr.
 -expansional fracture voids filled by black chlorite, 5% matrix strongly carbonated (CaCO<sub>3</sub>) and feldspars (2-3mm)
 -weakly sericitized, CaCO<sub>3</sub> content 25-30% in matrix and veins.
 -dk. green and white speckled appearance (feldspars)
 -v. strongly foliated at 50° to CA, with foliation intensity and chlorite alteration increasing to lower contact
 -upper contact gradual, lower contact sharp.
 -CaCO<sub>3</sub> veins at 90° to CA and parallel to foliation
